"Eat, drink, and be merry, for in five weeks examinations will be here."—The University Catalogue.

Taking due notice of the above statement, a regular frenzy of social affairs are crowding upon this fair campus. Just consider a few of them chronologically.

Saturday, the pledges of all the fraternities will sponsor (this sponsoring business is getting to be a habit here) an open University dance, to which everyone with a dollar, regardless of whether or not he has a date, is cordially invited. If the dance turns out the usual mob, at least two of those in charge shouldn't have to worry about such things as initiation fees and such.

The next week is somewhat bare as yet, possibly because it is the week closest to pay day, but in the following week, the fun begins. In the first place, it is Troubadour week, when everyone is expected to do all required work as usual, and no one does. For this week only, G. W. will officially take over Wardman, both in the audience and back stage. We shall see fair coeds dancing, singing, and the like, and perhaps we'll even hear a new tune or so, for which Allah be praised.

Our official snooper has just told us that a popular prof has already reserved two seats in a specified row for the opening night, and two other seats on a later night to fulfill his social obligations. So if you are invited to the show later in the week, fair coeds, make sure that you aren't the second choice of the prof who invited you.

On Wednesday night of the same week, Bucky, the prom maestro of the University, will revive "an old Spanish custom" by holding a University prom. The prom will also be at Wardman, so those who go to the Troubadour's effort earlier in the evening may make a night of it by going to the ballroom to this formal.

We won't put our tin away until after this event; for we heartily back anyone who undertakes any enterprise without whimpering that sufficient funds have not been appropriated to assure the financial success of the undertaking. Sometime we're going to break down and write a serious column about people who are willing to work hard and do the best with means at hand without wishing for the moon with a couple of stars and a comet thrown in.

Bucky is taking personal responsibility for the success of the prom, and he and his committee are working now, planning for the affair. That suits us. We seek action, not words.

Friday night after the presentation of "Sometime Soon" the bold and had fraternities, and the blushing and sweet sororities will put on a special midnight show at Wardman, in order that the vaudeville shall not perish from the earth. Special acts are provided in order that students with classes on Saturday will not sleep through the second performance in the same evening. We wish these Greek groups would offer sketches of how they came to control certain campus activities, such as athletics, dramatics, publications, old flippers, and Quigley's. That's something to look forward to.

Our old friend Babe Whyte, who entered school in 1922, and who is now a sophomore, has left for Tulsa, Oklahoma, to take a position on a newspaper there. Babe has made whoopee in every fraternity house on the campus, and is revered accordingly.

Coach Crum has decided to look after the wellbeing of our football team again next year. We shall watch the deeds of the third edition of the Iron-men.

Pi Delta squanders the proceeds of the Razz Berry in its annual banquet. Gamma Eta Zeta, we hear, is to have its initiatory banquet on the same evening, if it can find an eating place that will allow them there.

All dope on summer school will be contained in the catalogue, available May 1. Those who desire to rest in certain subjects during the coming month may make their reservations early for a place in Elmer Louis Kayser's academy which is in session from June to August or thereabouts.

Remember, we promised you a serious column.

DICK ROLLO.

VODVIL PLANNED FOR MIDNIGHT OF FRIDAY, MAY 10

Fraternities and Sororities Will Present Annual Show At Wardman

SPONSORS OF BEST ACT TO RECEIVE P. D. G. CUP

Tryouts Will Be Held May 1 and 2; Show Should Draw Large Crowd

The annual George Washington University Vodvil show will be presented Friday evening, May 10, at Wardman Park Theater, according to an announcement made this week. The show will be given as a midnight production, coming within an hour of the close of the Troubadour musical comedy which will be at the theater during the week of May 10.

This will be the fourth annual vodvil show, presented by the fraternity and sorority groups at the University, and the first performance of the units at the Wardman Theater.

Phi Delta Gamma to Present Cup.

The fraternity or sorority offering what is judged to be the best individual act will receive a cup, the yearly presentation of Phi Delta Gamma, national forensic fraternity.

The date of the Vodvil was chosen so as not to interfere with the customary period of pre-examination studying which begins a few weeks before the finals, and it is expected that the hour selected will prove a drawing card of unusual value.

Tryouts May 1 and 2

Tryouts for selection of the acts to make up this year's show will be held May 1 and 2, the place to be announced later.

A considerable number of the groups interested have been working on acts for several months, and since anything from a soliloquy of Hamlet to the recitation of Das McGrew is admissible, it is expected that a surprising variety of dramatic talent will be offered at the tryouts.

DONALDSON WRITES FOR GERMAN JOURNAL

Article on Basic Foreign Economic Relations of the U. S. Will Appear Soon

Dr. John Donaldson, Professor of Commerce in the University, has been requested by the Institut für Weltwirtschaft und Seeverkehr (of Kiel, Germany), to prepare an article for the next number of the Weltwirtschaftliches Archiv.

The Archiv is one of the leading "learned journals" of Europe, being known for its studies of economics, politics, and international relations. Among its contributors are many eminent authorities, such as Dr. Bernhard Harms and Professor Werner Sombart. The issue in which Dr. Donaldson's treatise will appear is expected to come out during the latter part of June.

Professor Donaldson's contribution, a 60 page article, deals with the underlying factors in America's foreign industrial, commercial, shipping, and financial activities, with the trends in their evolution, and with the resulting American foreign policies. It will be printed in English, and is entitled "Fundamentals of the Foreign Economic Relations and Policies of the United States."

Theatrical Number Of Ghost To Appear

Issue, Edited by Emily Pilkinton, Will Be on Campus Last of April

The Theatrical number of the Ghost will appear on the campus the latter part of this month.

The majority of the features will be devoted to the theater, and include testimonials of famous actors and actresses, a discussion of the American Drama, and a novel description of the Troubadours' musical comedy, "Sometime Soon."

The issue contains further a sex questionnaire, which is said to rival the one which figured in the famous University of Missouri controversy. To complete the number there are numerous clever drawings, original poems, and spicy jokes. The cover will be the work of Betty Buntin, art editor.

G. W. GIRL REPRESENTS DISTRICT AT FESTIVAL

Beryl Loughlin, a G. W. co-ed, represented Washington at the apple blossom festival at Winchester last week as one of the princesses who attended Queen Shenandoah VI. She rode on one of the floats in the parade and attended the balls and other events given in honor of Queen Shenandoah and her attendants.

HARRIETTE RISSLER
Who plays the leading role in the Troubadour production "Sometime Soon" which opens a week's engagement at the Wardman Theater May 6.

TROUBADOUR MEN LIST REHEARSALS

Three Choruses Are Holding Regular Rehearsals At Present Time

RALPH KENNEDY DIRECTS

Tickets Will go on Sale Soon; Reservations Are Now Coming in

Under the tutelage of Ralph Kennedy, the men's chorus for the Troubadour musical comedy, "Sometime Soon," is scheduled to hold two rehearsals during the week. Kennedy was put in charge of the chorus last week.

An outstanding feature of the show is expected to be found in the novel men's chorus. Kennedy has had several years' experience in musical shows at Penn State where he studied prior to coming to George Washington, and is eminently qualified to direct the local men's organization.

Two-to-Top Routine
A soft shoe tap routine has been worked out, and Kennedy has been experimenting with several soft-shoe specialties.

The cast of the comedy and members of the choruses were issued copies of the music and words of the different musical numbers at the Thursday night rehearsal last week, and the show is now being assembled in what will be its final shape.

The three choruses are continuing their regular rehearsals in Corcoran Hall 1. Neither the cast nor the several choruses have yet had to alter their usual order of rehearsals.

Reservations for seats have already begun to come in, and tickets will go on sale and mail orders will be received within a short time.

Miss Davis Resigns Position As Coach

Plans to Continue Work in Philadelphia or New York; Coached Basketball Here

Eugenia Stuart Davis, Associate in Physical Education, has resigned, effective at the end of the present academic year, according to recent announcements at the University. Miss Davis plans to go to Philadelphia or New York.

Miss Davis has been a member of the Physical Education Department for the past two years. She took her B. S. in Physical Education at Temple University, where she played on the championship basketball team in 1924. She acted as coach of the girls' basketball team at George Washington, which recently closed a successful season.

DR. LOUIS COHEN SPEAKS TO MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics Club heard Dr. Louis Cohen, consulting electrical engineer of the Army Signal Corps, G. W. N. lecturer and author of "Heavyside's Operational Calculus." Dr. Cohen explained the methods used by Oliver Heavyside in solving problems in wave propagation of electrical signals, results originally obtained by a combination of practical experience and uncanny intuition, and which were not justified by rigorous proofs until recently. Among the theorems presented before the audience of mathematicians, physicists, and engineers were the power series solution, the expansion theorem, and the integral theorem. Dr. Cohen demonstrated the solution of several problems by means of the operational calculus, including the problem of the submarine cable.

DAVIS SPEAKING CONTEST BRINGS MANY ENTRANTS

Senior Prize Speaking Contest Inaugurated At University In 1847

LIVE TOPICS ARE CHOSEN

Increasing Interest in Forensics Expected to Result in Large Audience Next Friday

The Davis prize speaking contest which will be held next Friday evening in Corcoran Hall, room 1, is attracting widespread interest. Both the number of entrants and the large number of inquiries relative to the contest point to one of the best attended forensic events to be held at the University in recent years.

The members of the senior class, who expect to participate, have already filed their intentions with the committee in charge and the number of speeches registered is said to exceed the number of former years by a wide margin. It is anticipated that the increasing interest which has been displayed in forensics by the members of the student body will culminate in an exceptionally large audience next Friday night.

The Davis prizes were founded by Hon. Isaac Davis, of Massachusetts, in 1847, and since that time have grown to be a recognized George Washington University institution. The prizes are in gold, as follows: First prize fifteen dollars, second prize ten dollars, and third prize five dollars, and are awarded annually to the members of the senior class who are adjudged to have made the greatest progress in public speaking and elocution since their connection with the University.

Only Seniors Appear

According to the rules of the contest defined by the donor of the prizes, the contest is held on the second Tuesday after the Easter holiday. The award of these three prizes is determined by a public contest in which the participants deliver original orations.

Only members of the senior class are eligible to compete. Because of this qualification it has been the rule that the most mature and experienced speakers of the student body partake. In former years the orations have shown serious thought, which added a quality not found in lower class competition, and it is expected that because of the many live topics available today, the orations to be delivered next Friday will prove to be of special interest.

The committee to judge the contest and to award the prizes has been appointed by the Department of English and the names of the members will be made known at the time of the contest.

FRAT PLEDGES PLAN DANCE FOR APRIL 27

"Dollar Dance" in Corcoran Hall Friday Open to All Students

Pledges of the social fraternities are sponsoring a "Dollar Dance" in Corcoran Hall on Saturday evening, April 27, at nine o'clock to which all students of the University are invited. This is expected to be the final subscription dance in Corcoran Hall this spring.

At a recent meeting of the pledges the following committee was appointed to arrange for the dance: Robert Adams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Joe Howard, Kappa Alpha; and Floyd Ormsby, Sigma Nu.

Mulford's orchestra has been secured to furnish the music, and judging from its past success at University functions should prove an attraction in itself. Due to the misrepresentation in some circles as to the real purpose of this dance, the committee wishes to impress the student body of the University that this dance is not confined to fraternity pledges, but is open to all students and their friends. Dancing will be from nine until twelve. Subscription will be one dollar, couple or stag.

POSITIONS OPEN

The University Employment Office, first floor, Building A, has the following openings:

Senior men, merchandizing end of a nation-wide industrial corporation. Women, looking toward a general business career, without any definite idea about what phase of this work they want.

Boys, two or three with some technical training in electrical work. Full time job.

WARNING ISSUED

Complaint has been made to the University by the Police Department of the practice of students in displaying posters on the trees along the side walks. This is a violation of a police regulation, and if persisted in will involve legal action.

Dean Rose Will Be Guest Of Honor At G. W. Alumni Lunch Saturday, April 27

Miss Anna L. Rose, Dean of Women, and Associate Professor of Education in the George Washington University, will be a guest of honor at the George Washington Alumni Luncheon to be held Saturday, April 27, at 12:30 o'clock at the Hotel Lafayette. The occasion will be in the nature of a farewell to Dean Rose, as she will leave Washington next fall to become associated with the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Teaching in New York City.

The luncheon, which has been designated "The School of Education Luncheon," will be addressed by Dr. William J. Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, Dean William Carl Ruediger, of the School of Education of the George Washington University, with Mrs. Ruediger, will be honor guests.

An informal reception will precede the luncheon. In the receiving line will be Dr. Oscar Benwood Hunter, president of the Alumni Association of the University, Dr. William J. Cooper, Dean Anna L. Rose, and Dean and Mrs. Ruediger.

A group of the younger graduates of the University, headed by Mr. Lyman Dishman, and including Miss Margaret Maize, Mrs. James Robert Kirkland, Miss Ermytrude Valden, Mr. Elmer Brown and Miss Frances Walker, will act as a reception committee.

The luncheon, which will be the closing alumni luncheon of the academic year, will be attended by a large group of George Washington University graduates.

RUTH AND ALBERT CHOSEN "Y" HEADS

Leading G. W. Students Are Made President and Vice President, Respectively

LAST "Y" MEETING HELD

Elizabeth Buntin and Sarah Reed Win Offices; Louise DuBoise Presented Book

Dorothy Ruth was elected president of the student Y. W. C. A. at the last meeting of the year, held Thursday, April 18, in Corcoran Hall. The election was made unanimous as were those of the other officers after the report of the nominating committee. The other officers for the coming year are: Elizabeth Buntin, vice president; Elizabeth Buntin, secretary; and Sarah Reed, treasurer.

Louise DuBoise, retiring president of the Y, announced the delegates to the Eagles Mere Student Conference, Winifrede Beall, Eloise Lindsay, and Margaret Monk are the three girls who will attend this co-ed student conference to be held June 12-22.

G. W. to be Well Represented

George Washington University will probably be better represented in numbers than ever before. Both Dorothy Ruth and Elizabeth Buntin will go. Both were delegates in former years, and feel it would be worthwhile to attend this year. All students are welcome to attend the conference. Rates, which are very reasonable, may be had from the delegates.

Installation of the four major officers will be held at Kamp Kahlert, May 12, at which time the G. W. coeds will be spending the week end at the West River Camp. The committee chairman will be announced at this time, and will also be installed. Registrations for the week end party are open to all G. W. girls, whether or not they are Y members, and should be given to Virginia Creeker or Eloise Lindsay. The entire cost of the week end is only $2.50, although the girls will provide their own transportation.

Book Given to DuBoise

Louise DuBoise, was presented with a "Trip Abroad" book by the cabinet girls in appreciation of all the work she has done in building up the Y.

Reports were heard from all departments of the Y to close the year. The treasurer and social service chairman presented the best record in many years.

D. C. ORATORICAL FINALS TO BE HELD ON APRIL 29

The meeting to determine the winner in the District of Columbia finals of the National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest is to be held on Monday, April 29, at Catholic University, at 8 o'clock. The original date set for this meeting was April 26, but it was found necessary to postpone it. Harryman Dorsey is representing George Washington. Four other schools are to be represented. The speakers will be heard in the following order: Georgetown, George Washington, National University, Catholic University and Trinity College.

SPRING FORMAL TO BE MAY 8 AT WARDMAN PARK

First Annual Dance To Take Place of Former Junior And Senior Proms

DANCE WILL FOLLOW TROUBADOURS SHOW

Many Students Expected to Attend Show and Prom Wednesday Night

George Washington University society is receiving with much interest the announcement of the first annual Spring Formal which is to be held in the large ballroom of the Wardman Park Hotel on Wednesday, May 8.

At the instigation of the Dean of Men and with the approval of the Student Life Committee, the Spring Formal is being inaugurated in the hope that it will become a traditional social event of the University. Every effort is being made by "Bucky" Herzog, chairman of the committee in charge, to make this dance a success and in a measure take the place of the Junior and Senior Proms which have been abandoned this year.

Follows Troubadour Show

As this dance is to be an open dance and as it falls on one of the nights on which the Troubadours are playing in the theater at Wardman, it is expected many students will avail themselves of the opportunity of taking in both the show and the Formal.

Assisting "Bucky" Herzog, who as chairman of the Interfraternity Prom this year probably put over one of the best Proms in the history of George Washington University, are: Don Iglehart, chairman of last year's Interfraternity Prom; George Von Dachenhausen, president of the Interfraternity Council; Lyman Dishman, James Lumsden and Darrell Crain.

Jack Slaughter's Music

In its effort to offer only music and entertainment of the highest quality and at the same time appealing to popular taste, the committee has arranged to have Jack Slaughter direct a Lido Unit. Slaughter, who is most popular at George Washington University, played at both the Junior and Interfraternity Proms last year as well as the roof garden at the Powhatan. The Lido Unit is the last year's Interfraternity Prom, and is much in demand by the nearby colleges.

Tickets, which have already been placed on sale, are selling at three dollars a couple, and may be obtained from the bursar's office, Dean of Men's office, or from any of the following who are selling for their respective fraternities: Don Iglehart, Lyman Dishman, Bill Snow, James Lumsden, Francis Tompkins, Bill Karnes, Leonard Jensen, Charles Baldwin, Bob Gray, Harold Farmer and Bill Dismer, or from any member of the committee.

The Men's and Women's Glee Clubs will give a joint concert at the Mt. Vernon Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Ninth and Massachusetts Avenue, on Wednesday, April 24, at 8 o'clock. The male quartet will give special numbers, and Harriet Nash will play.

The Women's Glee Club recently gave a concert sponsored by the Women's Guild of Federated Churches at the Church of the Covenant for the benefit of the Florence Crittenden Home. The special numbers were a duet by Helen and Estelle Humphries and several selections by the quartet from the Men's Glee Club.

STERLING LECTURES ON PIGMY LAND TRIP

Dr. M. W. Sterling, Chief of the Bureau of American Ethnology in the Smithsonian Institution, and a well known lecturer, presented an illustrated lecture on his trip, "By Airplane to Pigmy Land," in Corcoran Hall, Room 1, Saturday evening, April 20, at 8 o'clock.

This lecture, the final event in the season's program of the Art and Archaeology League of Washington, illustrated by motion pictures, taken by Dr. Sterling on his explorations. An invitation was extended to all interested members of the faculty and student body.

Mrs. Mitchell Carroll, Instructor in the Art School of the George Washington University, has recently been re-elected President of the Art and Archaeology League.

UNION BUILDING AND DRAMATICS

In two weeks the Troubadours will present their annual musical comedy, the result of hours of practice and thoughtful effort on the part of both the cast and the management. During the same week, the only other surviving dramatic tradition, the annual Vodvil, will borrow the Troubadours' theater at Wardman, and offer acts by fraternities and sororities in a special midnight show. The Players and the Dionysians are words that connote dramatic organizations of other days, organizations that are now no more—a stark reminder of lack of facilities.

Yet dramatics have not passed nationally to the limbo whence have gone the literary societies, circles, and publications prevalent in colleges in other days. There is still a vast field here for training behind the footlights. Only a little encouragement is needed to develop it.

Consider the difficulties under which the Troubadours have labored. They lacked a theater for the actual presentation of their comedy, and after months of negotiations finally secured the Wardman Park Theater, the only one that they could afford. Street costumes have been used for the most part in order to cut down expenses. Attics have been robbed of waste lumber and basements have been converted into scene painting shops to economize. For rehearsals, the Troubadours have been forced to use the Gymnasium and Corcoran Hall 1, where there is not a stage, and where the acoustics is not even approximately like that in a theater. And to secure these poor places, the organization must reserve the rooms far in advance, provided that some other group has not made prior reservation. And there isn't a room available which can be made into a suitable ticket office.

With a Student Union Building on the campus, one might surely expect an auditorium, if it were merely a small one, with a stage, rehearsals might be held under the best conditions, and if the stage were large enough the actual show might be given there. Rooms with pianos would be available for practice of the principals and specialty acts. And there might be a permanent office for the Committee on Dramatics, which could be turned over to students as the occasion might demand, for use as a ticket office.

And dramatics is merely one student activity which would benefit by a Student Union Building.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COLUMBIA

"The Broadway Melody," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's talking, singing, dancing dramatic sensation, has started on its fourth record-breaking week at Loew's Columbia.

The picture is an expose of backstage life and features Bessie Love, Charles King and Anita Page in a story concerning a sister act from "the small time" that comes to New York to get into a Broadway production. After much trouble they secure a part through the efforts of the younger and better looking sister. The boy friend of the older sister falls in love with the younger, although he does not want to admit it. The younger sister does what she can to discourage him, but when the older sister senses the situation she goes back to the small time—broken hearted but carrying on. The picture embraces everything from the silent picture to a Broadway musical production, especially in one scene which is produced in color.

EARLE

The exotic beauty of the South Seas is brought to the screen in vivid manner in First National's Vitaphone picture, "His Captive Woman," this week's major screen offering at the Earle Theater.

The story deals with a jazz-mad New York girl, who, in a fit of temper, kills an admirer and flees to the South Seas on the yacht of another man. She is pursued by a New York policeman, and the adventures of the two on a desert island in the Pacific, when shipwrecked, make a highly dramatic story and culminates in a memorable courtship scene. Miss Mackail is cast as the girl and Sills as the policeman.

FOX

After a three weeks' stay at the Roxy Theater, New York, "SpeakEasy" is now being shown at the local Fox Theater, announced as the first picture to reproduce the actual sounds of Manhattan, in an all-talking production, actually taken in New York City, in the subways, on the elevated railways and in theaters, cabarets, "speakeasies" and within the Madison Square Garden.

"SpeakEasy" is a slice of life as lived in the biggest town in the world. Ten thousand fight-crazed enthusiasts are heard cheering; as also the monotonous cry of the "candy butchers," and in the Grand Central Station the hustle and bustle of that great railway terminal.

"Whoopie Week," as the current period is entitled, will mark the advent of the Forty Jazzmanians.

LITTLE THEATER

"Ten Days That Shook the World," epic drama of the overthrow of the Kerensky provisional government in Russia in 1917, is at the Little Theater.

"Ten Days," was directed by S. M. Eisenstein, director of "Potemkin," and more than 120,000 Soviet workers were employed as extras in the production. Imperial statues removed by the new government were replaced for use in the picture.

Regimental uniforms, discarded when the Czar's armed forces became the troops of the Soviet republic, were once more seen upon the streets during the filming of "Ten Days," and whole sections of Petrograd were closed to traffic while Einstein directed the movements of the army of extras, who, under his commands, participated once more in the stirring events leading up to the fall of the provisional government.

METROPOLITAN

For the second and final week Metropolitan Theater presents Paramount's talking mystery detective picture, "The Canary Murder Case."

An all-talking picture with William Powell in the role of Philo Vance. Many consider "The Canary Murder Case" the most thrilling and mystifying of the Van Dine series.

There will be presented also an educational talking comedy, "Ask Dad," which features Edward Everett Horton, the popular comedian, and the latest issue of Pathe Sound News.

RIALTO

"Show Boat," Carl Laemmle's Movietone pictorial pageant, based on Edna Ferber's novel and Florenz Ziegfeld's stage production, came into port for the gala reopening of the Rialto.

The "Show Boat" music of Jerome Kern is ranked among the most characteristic music ever written for a dramatic musical stage entertainment.

Helen Morgan, Jules Bledsoe and Aunt Jemima sing in the picture the song which made them famous, and the audience see and hear Helen Morgan singing "Bill" and "Can't Help Loving That Man," Jules Bledsoe singing "Old Man River" and Aunt Jemima and the Ziegfeld Plantation Singers render "Hey, Feller" and "Come On, Folks."

PALACE

This being "All laugh week" at Loew's Palace, the program starts appropriately with Buster Keaton's latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sound production "Spite Marriage," with Della Hyams and Dorothy Sebastian in the cast.

Buster Keaton, is a presser in a tailoring establishment when the picture opens; and to make an impression on the girl of his dreams, an actress at the local theater, he wears his customers' fine clothes, and the girl takes him for a millionaire. When her boy friend seems a trifle cold toward her, she marries Buster for spite. After she is married his troubles begin. After seeing the thirty-fifth presentation of the show he knows everybody's lines and, so, when one actor is obliged to leave, he takes the part, and the comedy that follows is hilarious, and original.

Dear Sir:
Going to take the pleasure and drop you a few lines to say that my favorite tobacco is your Edgeworth. I have been a user of it for the last eight years and find it the only tobacco for a real good smoke.

For the last five or six months I have been trying several other kinds but I find Edgeworth is the only tobacco for me.

If I am smoking any other brand my wife will tell me, as she likes the smell of only Edgeworth. When I'm smoking others she opens all windows and doors.

The reason for writing this letter is that I had a card party last night, and most of all of the party asked me what kind of tobacco I used.

So I told them Edgeworth.

Yours very truly,

A smoker of Edgeworth

NETMEN TO MEET ARMY SATURDAY IN BIG MATCH

G. W. Facing National Fame in Meeting Strong Team From West Point

One of the biggest athletic contests ever staged by a George Washington University sports unit, will take place on Saturday, April 27, when it tackles the powerful Army players from West Point. At a late hour last night the place of the match had not been decided, but Captain Larry Phillips announced that the battle site will be announced in the Washington papers.

If the G. W. netmen should succeed in taking the measure of the soldiers, the fame of the Buff and Blue players would be widespread. Already Phillips has gathered together one of the most formidable groups of players in this section of the country, and he is hoping that his charges may show to their full ability on Saturday. The fact that it is one of the few times that a team from the Point has ever traveled away from home to meet an opponent, speaks highly of the regard with which the Colonial players are held.

With Phillips himself, runner-up in the Eastern Maryland championship last year, and a noted player in this section of the country, the G. W. team boasts of such assets as Considine, holder of four championships; Sickler, former District municipal champion; Wallenstein, champion of the Patent Office; and Stauble, a shining light on Central High's team a few years ago. Any one of these players is able to make trouble for the big men from the Point.

Although the Colonial captain is undecided as to how his men will line up, it is a safe bet that most of the aforementioned will start. The Army match, together with the games with Navy, constitute the high lights of the Buff and Blue schedule this year, and it is expected that a large number of students will turn out to see such two high-class teams in action. For G. W. fans, it will be an opportunity to see their favorites play against nationally known foes with a possibility of witnessing their own team rise into national fame.

FINE SHOOTING SHOWN IN NATIONAL MATCH

George Washington Co-eds Turn In Four Perfect Scores In Dot And Circle Match

Shooting at their best in the annual Dot and Circle match, the George Washington Women's Rifle team dropped one point out of a possible 500, when this match was shot off before the holidays.

The following scores were turned in, the five highest counting toward the final score:

Clark	100
Crumley	100
Parsons	100
Leighey	99
Taylor	99
Prentiss	99
Wright	97

Complete results will be published after all the competing college teams have turned in their scores.

The Dot and Circle Club is an honorary rifle sorority to which the outstanding rifle teams of the country are bid. The Dot and Circle Trophy, which is offered by the club each year, has been held by the Colonial team for the past two years. Should they prove their merit by winning the trophy the third year in succession, they will have won the right to keep it in their possession permanently.

W. A. A. Makes Success Of Benefit Card Party

Winifred Beall, Committee Chairman, Reports Large Fund Collected for Blazers

Success attended the efforts of the Women's Athletic Association to care for the expenditures necessary for athletic blazers, when a crowd of over eighty attended the benefit card party which was held under their auspices on Wednesday evening, April 11, in Corcoran Hall.

According to Winifred Beall, chairman of the affair, it was estimated that about forty dollars had been taken in which would go toward the expense of the blazers. Winnie Beall was assisted in arranging the party by Mary Detwiler and Althea Lawton.

C. D. S. ADOPTS NEW PROCEDURE

Debaters Form Mock Senate; Bombastic Speeches Prevail In Noisy Meeting

FARM RELIEF DISCUSSED

Bill Lost by Vote of Chairman; Popular Referendum for War to be Debated

The Columbian Debating Society adopted a unique and interesting form of procedure at its last meeting, Friday evening, April 19, when it turned itself into a mock senate. The meeting had all the earmarks of a regular senate session with an abundance of bombastic oratory prevailing.

Bills ranging from farm relief to the raising of a fund for a home for feeble-minded senators were introduced and voted upon. Republican and Democratic whips rushed about the floor in true Senatorial style.

Amendments Introduced

Andrew Howard, Republican, representing Missouri, introduced a bill for farm relief. This was followed by a great deal of debating. Hearst Duncan introduced an amendment to the bill providing for free trade. His amendment was carried.

James G. Wingo introduced a second amendment to the effect that no limitations should be imposed on the free trade, at present existing between the United States and the Philippines. His amendment was also carried.

After several bitter forensic clashes the bill was finally voted upon and defeated by the binding vote of Chairman Langhlin. Hearst Duncan, R. T. Shanner, Ralph Morganti, and Lionel Stokes were the leaders in favor of the bill, while the opposition was headed by Andrew Howard, Ralph Joyce and Earnest Heckert.

War to be Debated

The subject for the debate next Friday evening, April 26, will be, "Resolved, That a popular referendum be necessary for the declaration of war." The Society will again resolve itself into a junior senate.

K. A. LEADS ALPHA LEAGUE; ACACIA, THETA DELTS TIED

Phi Sigs Knock T. U. O. Out of First Place; Acacia Wins Third Straight

THETA DELTS RAINED OUT, KEEP PERFECT CARD

Although Losing Game, Sigma Chi Make Triple Play Against Kappa Sigs

Four games played in the two interfraternity leagues last Sunday resulted in a general shake-up of the standings in League A, while leaving the situation in League B about the same.

Although idle for the day, K. A. moved into first place in League A, by virtue of Phi Sigma Kappa's defeat of the ancillary T. U. O. team; while Acacia continued its winning ways at the expense of Sigma Nu. Theta Delt, which was rained out, retained its position at the top of the heap, with a perfect record.

Although having no bearing in the chase for the championship, two other games were filled with surprises, with one furnishing what will probably be unique in the records. Sigma Chi, loser in its game with Kappa Sig, pulled one of those rarities in baseball, still rarer in fraternity ranks—a triple play.

With the bases full, the Kappa Sig batter hit to Lopenam, playing third. Lopenam touched the base, forcing the man coming in from second, and then ran down the man going home. Between Beekman, the catcher, and Lopenam, the man was finally run down and the ball was then thrown to Snow, at first, who completed the brilliant play. The other surprise marked S. A. E.'s entrance into the win column by trouncing S. P. E., 16-5.

Phi Sigs Wallop T. U. O.

Taking advantage of numerous errors of their opponents, the Phi Sigs ran up a 7-1 score over the T. U. O.'s to capture their second game of the series. The losers got their only score in the first inning but from then on, the result was never in doubt. Tying the score in the second, the Phi Sigs scored another in the third, but waited until the sixth before putting the game "on ice." Although Pulmer pitched brilliantly for the losers, the two hurlers of the Phi Sigs were even better with Perry, relief flinger, not allowing a hit after the third frame. The midge pitcher established something of a record when he fanned six T. U. O.'s in a row.

Although the winners were rather weak with the bat in the early portions of the game, incidentally scoring their second run without the aid of a hit, they woke up with a vengeance near the end and bombarded the opposing southpaw with a fusillade of hits. Gray, with a home run in the last inning featured the attack of the winners. Quarles, first Phi Sig pitcher, hurled nicely until relieved by Perry.

Although losing, however, the Sigs played much better ball than in their first two starts. Clements, pitching, allowed his opponents "but five runs as compared to the 12 and 18 runs off Sig pitchers in their first two games.

Wheaton led the attack for the winners with three safe bingles, besides scoring two runs himself. The K. S. shortstop socked a triple in the first inning with two aboard to give his mates the lead while starting another rally in the third. ## FOOTBALL CANDIDATES SOUGHT BY COACH CRUM

Equipment Awaiting Those Who Report to Him for Spring Practice

Full equipment and training facilities are still awaiting those men who desire to report at once for spring football, according to Coach "Maud" Crum. So far the men who have come out have been few and far between, said Crum—a most discouraging outlook for the prospects of next year's eleven.

Crum had planned to take the candidates out for the early practice three times a week, but it would be useless to attempt to work with such a few now on hand.

It was thought after the disastrous season of 1928 that the men of the University would rise to the aid of their Alma Mater in an attempt to regain some of its lost prestige. Prior to last year G. W. teams had been improving steadily under the direction of Crum, however, hard luck and misfortune treated the squad severely in '28, and the team sank to its lowest ebb in five years.

In an effort to get an early start, Crum issued the call for candidates for the spring practice right after the holidays and he was hoping to run the sessions for about three weeks. Men making the best showing in this preliminary seasoning, were to be invited to the training camp in the fall. Although the freshmen eleven boasted of several promising players last season, only a few have reported to Crum.

CRUM TO BE 1929 FOOTBALL COACH, SAYS VAN VLECK

Chairman of Athletic Committee Announces Popular Mentor's Return To School in Fall

CRUM WELL LIKED BY PIXLEE, SPORTS HEAD

New Athletic Policy of School, Also Favored by Crum; Considers it Wise Move

According to an announcement of Dean William C. Van Vleck, chairman of the University Committee on Athletics, Coach H. Watson "Maud" Crum will return this fall to coach the G. W. football team of 1929. Although Coach Crum has given out no statement, the information, coming from one so high in authority is, no doubt, authentic.

The news of Crum's intention to return will probably meet with great favor on the part of G. W. students and faculty alike. Since coming to the school, Buff and Blue elevens have risen to national recognition under his tutelage, notwithstanding the disastrous season of 1928. Before his arrival, Colonial elevens had met only the smallest of opponents, but the training of Crum quickly brought his charges into the foremost prominence.

Crum Brought G. W. Into Prominence

Prior to 1924, the first year of Crum's regime, no big school had ever appeared on the Buff and Blue schedule, but with the system inaugurated by him, three of the largest colleges of the East were met by G. W. teams, Penn State, Fordham, and Lafayette, all scheduled games after realizing the growing strength of the Crummen, and the record of G. W. against these elevens has been an enviable one. Although failing to beat the "Nittany Lions" in three games, the Crummen lost after only the closest kind of a fight for two seasons.

When Fordham was trimmed here, 14-0 in 1927, G. W. had reached its height, and the work of the Colonial mentor was widely acclaimed for producing the kind of eleven he did with the available material.

When informed of Crum's intention to return, James E. Pixlee, newly appointed Director of Athletics, expressed himself as "very pleased to have Crum with me." Crum, likewise, has expressed himself as being in full accord with the University's step of signing Pixlee, and considers it a wise move as a part of the present system of athletics.

School Needed Regular Director

The intention to develop athletes "inside of the University" needs a certain man at the head of all athletics, says Crum, and it is no job for a part-time employee. In his estimation, no man has time to assume this position, while attempting to act as football, basketball, or any other coach, and he is glad that he will be able to devote his entire time to the training of the gridiron team.
